

James E. Murphy, MD, MBA is an Adult Reconstruction surgeon who practices at Geisinger Health System.

He graduated Summa Cum Laude from Drexel University with a B.S. in Biomedical Engineering and attended the Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine where he earned his M.D. degree. He completed his Orthopaedic Surgery Residency at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, OH while also spending a year as the Allen Research Fellow. He then completed an Adult Reconstruction Fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania. He joined Geisinger Health System in 2013 and has practiced there since. During practice and without stopping his clinical duties, he obtained an MBA from the University of Scranton. He has served many administrative roles and currently is the Director of Quality for the entire Musculoskeletal Institute. He is a core faculty member for the new Geisinger Northeast Orthopaedic Surgery Residency Program and Adult Reconstruction Fellowship. He practices in his hometown of Wilkes Barre, PA and is proud to take care of friends, family, and all patients of the Northeast Pennsylvania area.
